In regards to my relationship to Ted Kaczynski, who I overtly do not support and religious point to as manipulative, I often say he was trying to groom me to lead his revolution. I'm not kidding or exaggerating, nor would I. Here it is in his writing.

And, to be honest, there were things about Ted as a person that I could relate to. But he dropped out of society in the peak of Maoist BS from a vortex of it. Like any revolutionary, he's willing to do whatever he believes it takes to meet his ends. He's not to be trusted.

Now you're almost making me feel bad for translating and publishing him.
